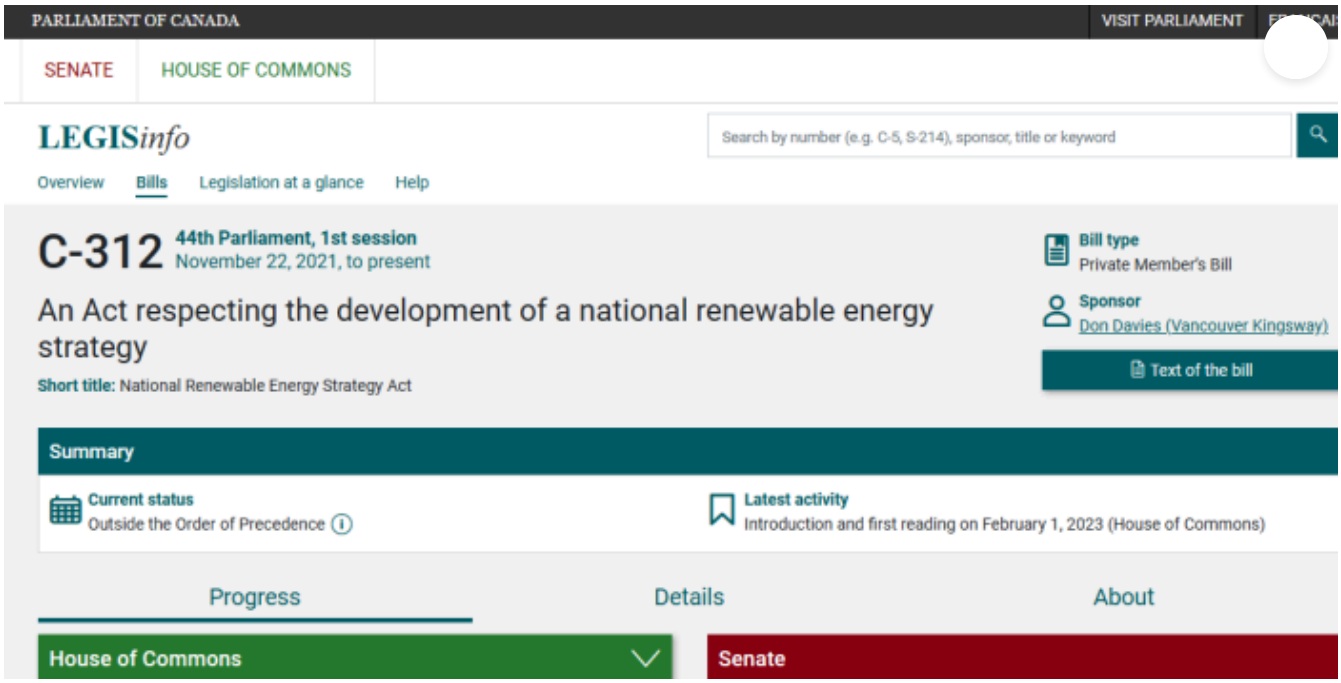
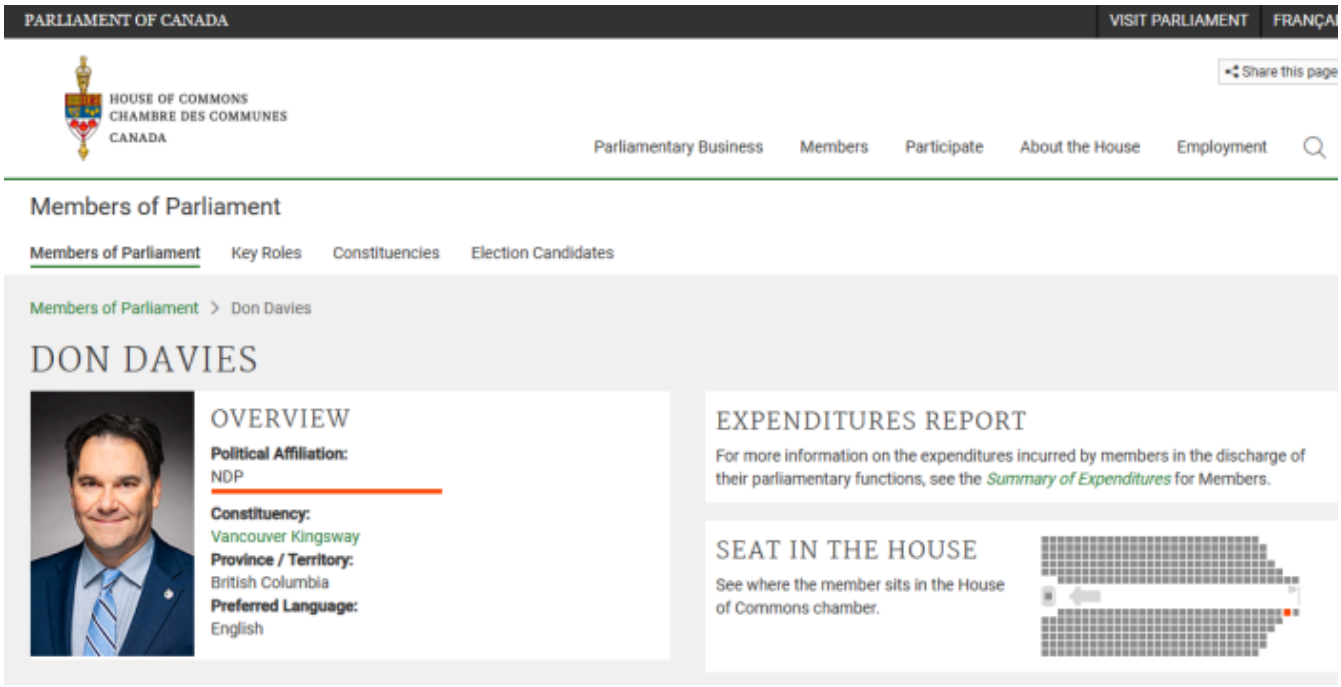
Private Member’s Bill C-312: Development Of A National Renewable Energy Strategy





Bill C-312 is about developing of a national renewable energy strategy, or so it's claimed.

This Bill (supposedly) was written by New Democrat Member of Parliament Don Davies. However, he seems to be writing the United Nations' dictates and trying to implement them into Canadian law. Remember how all these international agreements were supposed to be "non-binding"?

To add the usual disclaimer: Private Bills often don't become law on their own. That being said, the contents can later be slipped into other, larger pieces and get passed with little to no debate.

The text of the Bill says "develop and implement" a national strategy. It's doesn't simply want a plan drawn up. The logical conclusion one could draw from this is that it will force closure of industries and businesses that don't go along with the plan.

> Preamble
> Whereas the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change has been clear that averting catastrophic climate change requires global net human-caused greenhouse gas emissions to fall by 45% from 2010 levels by 2030 and reach net zero by 2050;
> Whereas, on a national scale, jobs in the clean energy sector are projected to grow nearly four times faster than the average in other sectors between 2020 and 2030, and the sector's contribution to gross domestic product is set to increase at more than double the average over the same period;

And whereas Canada must accelerate its transition to a clean energy future to meet the federal government's target of reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 40% to 45% below 2005 levels by 2030;

Development of national strategy

3 The Minister must, in consultation with the provincial government representatives responsible for energy matters and with Indigenous governing bodies, develop and implement a national strategy to provide that, by December 31, 2030, 100% of electricity generated in Canada must be from renewable energy sources.

Objectives of national strategy

4 The national strategy must include measures designed to achieve the following objectives:

(a) the initiation in each calendar year of twice as many renewable energy production projects as non-renewable energy production projects;

(b) an increase in investment in the research and development of renewable energy technologies;

(c) cooperation between the federal government and provincial governments in the establishment of new large-scale public electric utilities; and

(d) the creation of a renewable energy economy and renewable energy jobs.

Incentives

5 (1) Within one year after the day on which this Act comes into force, the Minister, together with the Minister of Finance, must design and implement incentives to encourage the development of, and investment in, renewable energy projects related to solar, wind, tidal or biomass electricity generation and to encourage homeowners and businesses to retrofit their properties with new or more efficient renewable energy technologies to increase the proportion of electricity used by these properties that is derived from renewable energy sources.

This Bill, if implemented, will kill of the oil & gas industry in Canada. And it appears designed to do so.

There is a quota system, where there would be at least twice as many "renewable" energy projects started as non-renewables. They would also be subsidized, making them appear artificially cheaper.

This is essentially the "Green New Deal" that Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez pushed back in 2019. Of course, she wasn't the original author of that plan, and was simply advancing a scheme developed over a decade earlier.

Isn't it interesting how so much Canadian legislation can actually be traced back to foreign actors with their own agendas?
